

The most important question

The most important question I was asked today slid into the middle of third grade math class between the  $6 \times 8$  and how many 5s in 900.
"Jane, when do you think you'll die?" John wondered.

I didn't have an answer for him.

1/28/2007